STAKE FOR JOHN W. SCHORR

TENNESSEE TURFMAN'S PLANUTESS IS WINNER OF THE DETROIT SELLING STAKES.

Planudes Filly Beats Capsize and Cismont in a Stirring Stretch Duel—Outcome of Steeplechase

Race Bad for Jockey Kelleher.

Detroit, Mich., July 19.—John W. Schorr furnished the winner of today's feature race at Windsor in his promising Planutess. Planutess, which beat a good band of juveniles in the Detroit Stakes at five-eighths of a mile, was ridden by Mr. Schorr's apprentice rider, Pease, made most of her own pace and won from Capsize in a stirring stretch drive. A neck separated the first two at the finish, with Cismont, the third horse, only half a length away. The race had selling conditions, and a run up was expected, but when the judges called for bids none materialized.

The performance of Dr. Heard, favorite in the steeplechase, proved the undoing of jockey Pat Kelleher. Dr. Heard was a receding favorite, while a remarkably active play developed on Osage, a Virginia jumper owned by Courtlandt H. Smith. If there was any job on to "shoo in" Osage, McClain upset calculations by rushing Dr. Koch into a long lead on the second turn of the field and leading by a goodly margin the remainder of the trip. Med Henderson, who had the mount on Osage, certainly rode a confident race. He permitted Osage to drop completely out of contention, and at one stage beat the calls Osage was laid on his heels.

When the race was practically over Osage moved up in a rush, but the gap he was asked to close was too great and the result was that Dr. Koch won with something to spare by four lengths. Kelleher, on Dr. Heard, was never prominent until the finish, when he, too, closed with a belated rush. The officials were satisfied that Kelleher's efforts were not such that a rider puts up when he is anxious to win, and after the races a ruling came from the judges which brought suspension to Kelleher. His chances of riding again soon are slim.

It was not a profitable day for the followers of favorites, only one choice finishing in front. This was Elfin Beau, which cantered home an easy winner in the opening dash. Those who were fortunate enough to land on the ones profited handsomely, as most of the winners were at remunerative odds.

William Shields took a purse with his speedy Merman, which made a runaway affair of the mile and a quarter race. The finishes in a majority of the races were close enough to be interesting and the large crowd present thoroughly enjoyed the sport.

Judge Monck, of Hamilton, together with President Joseph E. Seagram and Secretary William P. Fraser of the Ontario Jockey Club, came on today to attend a meeting of the Canadian Racing Association, which was held in the clubhouse at Windsor after the races. Secretary Fraser announced the conditions of the stakes to be run at the seven-days autumn meeting at Woodbine. There will be eleven in number as follows:

Domestic Cup, $2,500 added.
Dominion Handicap, $1,500 added.
Seagram Cup, $1,000 cup and $1,000 in money added.

Michaels Hanover, $1,000 added.
Durham Cup, $1,500 added.
Merton Plate, $1,000 added.
Grey Stakes, $1,500 added.

Ontario Jockey Club Cup Handicap, $2,500 added.
Woodbine Steeplechase, $1,500 added.
Hendrie Steeplechase, $2,000 added.
Stanley Produce Stakes, $1,500 added.

The overnight races will be for purses ranging in value from $500 to $800. Eight steeplechases will be run during the meeting, one being for three-year-olds. The dates set apart for the meeting are September 24 to October 1.

James Milton, who has been starting at half-mile tracks in upper Canada, was a visitor at Windsor this afternoon. Mr. Milton is spoken of as the probable starter for the new track in Maryland.

Thirty-two layers cut in at Windsor this afternoon, which is a record number for this course. William Fitch and M. Boasberg were the additions.

W. W. Lyles and P. A. Jones were among the arrivals from Latonia.

It is said that J. W. Schorr, the employer of jockeys Pease and Guy Burns, has been asked not to engage one or the other of the lads to outsiders when either is riding one of his horses in a race.

George H. Whitney, Jack Denman and Howard Oots, three Kentuckians who have been at Windsor, returned home tonight.

BELMONT YEARLINGS EN ROUTE EAST.

Chairman of Jockey Club Planning to Race Entire Output of Nursery Stud in This Country.

Lexington, Ky., July 19.—Fifteen yearlings from August Belmont's Nursery Stud were shipped this morning to Saratoga to be broken by John Whalen. Nine are by the $125,000 English stallion, Rock Sand. Mr. Belmont picked these out during his visit here last week. This leaves twenty yearlings at the Nursery, and Superintendent Ed Kane says they will be sent east later. It is understood to be Mr. Belmont's intention to keep all of this crop in this country to race in his colors. Along with the yearlings went the four-year-old gelding, Practical (brother to Priscillian), which has not raced since last year. He is to again go into training. Following is a list of the youngsters:

Belamour (brother to Belfry), ch. c, by Rock Sand—Belinda.

Black Rock (half-brother to Black Oak), blk. c, by Rock Sand—Black Poplar.

Golden Rock (half-brother to Fair Play), b. c, by Rock Sand—Fairy Gold.

Overman (half-brother to Okenite), b. c, by Rock Sand—Oriental.

Nickle, b. c, by Hastings—Niminy.

Tactics (half-brother to Merry Gift), b. c, by Hastings—Merry Token.

Wander Boy (half-brother to Anetta Lady and Dorcas), b. c, by Waterness—Donna de Oro.

Dance Spirit, br. f, by Rock Sand—Selina D.

Lady Paramount, b. f, by Hastings—Lady Languish.

Mission, b. f, by Rock Sand—Missigivings.

Obe, b. f, by Rock Sand—Octaroon.

Picadillo (sister to Priscillian), b. f, by Hastings—St. Priscilla.

Sun Queen (half-sister to Smug and Smirker), b. f, by Rock Sand—Sourlante.

Togger (half-sister to Dick Welles), b. f, by Rock Sand—Tea's Over.

Wild-Weed (half-sister to Woodlane and Wool-wich), ch. f, by Ethelbert—Woodvine.

Lady Paramount is the first living foal that Mr. Belmont has had from Lady Lanquish, the costly half-sister to Hamburg that has been so much of a disappointment to the master of Nursery Stud.

THIRTY LEADING MONEY-WINNING HORSES

The progress of the racing season of 1910 is well indicated by the fact that six horses have now won $10,000 or more. In the more prosperous days of a few years back it would have been a strange thing if a dozen or more horses had not attained that sum by the middle of July, but having present conditions in view the showing of the leaders is fairly satisfactory. Because of having two rich stakes at his mercy Sweep is still the leader unchallenged and likely to remain so for some time. The greatest advance in the table since its last publication—Dalmatian's gain from $5,250 to $7,505. In the matter of races won John Griffin II. is far in the lead with thirteen to his credit. Next to him are Marman and Ragman in a tie with nine races each. To date the thirty leading money winners and their records are:

CONDENSED HISTORY OF THE TEST HANDICAP

Designed to bring out the extreme of speed at a mile, the Test Handicap has justified its name in several notable performances. It was in this race that a mile was first covered in 1:38 in this country. This was in 1900, when Voter created a sensation by winning in that time. A few days subsequently Orimar ran a mile in the same time at our own Washington Park. It was also in the Test that, from a weight-carrying standpoint, Hermis ran the greatest mile recorded in American turf history when he defeated Beldame in 1:38, with 133 pounds on his back. The Test is one of the few stakes run uninterrupted at Brighton Beach from its establishment and its record is:

RACING EXPERIENCES IN PENNSYLVANIA.

New York, July 19.—Pennsylvania sporting men failed to make a pronounced hit with the promoters of the race meetings launched at Wilkesbarre and Scranton recently. Those who took part are drifting back to town with hard luck stories that are amusing. Jack Adler who used to announce the results in the local betting rings, went up into the coal mine district to help the promoters who arranged six races a day for $150 and $200 purses, fully confident that there would be profitable business. "The sports didn't turn out at all," says Adler. "Why, the largest receipts for a single day up there amounted to $36. The rate of admission was fifty cents and a dollar and there were eighty horses at the track. As the money did not materialize at the box office the horsemen agreed to race for a percentage. The biggest money a winner took down during the meeting was $18 and the second horse got $7. The winning jockey received $2 for his services and the rider of the second horse had to be satisfied with fifty cents. It was hard sledding; I can tell you, and when it came to the last race, Wednesday night, they asked me to make book as there was no other way to accommodate the patrons. Before the first race I sat on a stool for half an hour without getting a bet. Then a Rube walked up and handed me a lonesome dollar to place on a bad actor. I laid 15 to 1 against the plug and then saw him roll home on the bit. That was the last straw and I promptly hiked for the railroad station after handing over the sixteen iron men."

NOTES OF THE TURF.

If Assemblyman Perkins has been quoted correctly, horsemen believe there will not be much trouble after the new laws take effect.—New York Sun.

Trainer William Karrick intended to ship Fashion Plate from Sheepshead Bay to Yonkers Sunday, but the Woolsthorpe—Fashionable four-year-old pulled up lame after a work-out on Saturday.

Thomas C. McDowell has not had much success in the east this summer. His beautiful mare, King's Daughter, was knocked out by her trip from Kentucky to Sheepshead Bay. Huck is sore. Elten-Dale apparently will not come back and Berwick has lost his form.

Starbottle gets little stiff work at Empire City nowadays. His exercising consists of galloping and breezing of a mild character. Nearly every afternoon the tall and lengthy son of Hastings is taken to the paddock enclosure, where he is walked for ten minutes. He has settled down wonderfully and shows no disposition to fret and act mean.

John Hachmeister, general manager of the Latonia track, has returned to Cincinnati for a brief stay to wind up the business of the spring meeting. As to the plans for the fall meeting Mr. Hachmeister says he can make no definite announcement until the matter of dates is settled. He will go east after another brief trip to Louisville and St. Louis.

EFFORT TO LOCATE BEDWELL EMPLOYEE.

Cincinnati, O., July 19.—H. G. Bedwell has enlisted the aid of the Pinkertons in an effort to locate the negro stable hand upon whom he places the responsibility for the recent doping of Nadzu, which offense led to the ruling against him and his horses in Kentucky. Mr. Bedwell believes that if the negro can be located he will be able to clear himself of the stigma under which he is resting. The Pinkertons are now following up some clews which may lead to the apprehension of the former Bedwell employee.

SOMETHING OF GARRY HERMANN.

Louisville, Ky., July 19.—Jake Marklein recently related to a few friends an interesting story of Garry Hermann, the sire of Capt. J. T. Williams' sensational two-year-old, Governor Gray, as follows:

"I was training for L. V. Bell, for whom, in 1899, I had purchased quite a bunch of yearlings and in this collection was a lusty dark bay or brown colt with a long white stripe in the face, by Esher, out of Silk Gown, by Longfellow, for which I paid $750. This colt turned out to be Garry Hermann, and shortly after I had gotten the Bell yearlings together and before I had begun breaking them I had a falling out with the New Yorker and he at once ordered a sale of all the horses. When the good-looking Esher—Silk Gown colt passed into the hands of the auctioneer I was at the ringside. Though I showed no particular desire to bid, I had made up my mind to own him at any cost. Someone started the colt at $200 and I bid $5 more, and as the bidding advanced the price to $400 I thought I would get a blind bid at one $450, and that, odd to note, put an end to the bidding, and I got the colt for $300 less than Mr. Bell had paid for him a few weeks previous. For years Garry Hermann, a man of affairs in Cincinnati, and myself had been close friends and I had always wished to own a colt I thought good enough to bear his name. The son of Esher and Silk Gown appealed to me as just such a colt, so I named him Garry Hermann. In his yearling trials I found I had made no mistake with the colt and before I let up on him to wait until he reached the two-year-old stage to train him further, I discovered I had in him the best horse I ever owned. He ran eighteen races—think of that—as a two-year-old, and then Charlie Hughes came along and paid me $15,000 for him for the Chicago turfman, Charles Head Smith. In the spring of his three-year-old form, Mr. Hughes sold the colt for an advance of $10,000 on that price to the late Capt. S. S. Brown, and he had the Kentucky Derby at his mercy until he went wrong. All told he started twenty-five times as a two-year-old and only once was he outside the money, his victories at that age including the Hampden, Juvenile, Youngster and Champagne Stakes.

"I always craved to have the great horse back, but when Captain Brown died and he first went on the market in 1906, he brought $14,600. He was advertised to be re-sold in 1907, but all of the Senora in Steel stock were withdrawn from the sale at the last moment and he was not again on the market until the fall of 1908. I presumed he would again sell for five figures, but when I picked up a paper and saw that a man from Alberta, Canada, had bought him for $300, I hurried to Lexington to offer him a substantial profit on that price. "On looking him carefully over I discovered he had bad ring bones, caused by having been allowed to run up and down hill in the paddocks of Senorita Farm, so I did not make an offer for him. I should have bought him ring bones and all, as I never doubted but that some day he would sire a colt like Governor Gray. When I owned him, Garry Hermann did everything I ever asked him to do and in champion style. I understand the man that bought him re-sold him in Manitoba, and some cracking turf performers by him are sure to come from there, if he has access to any good mares. It is odd that Governor Gray should show up after his sire had been exiled from Kentucky, just like Garry Hermann did after Silk Gown, his dam, had passed without a pedigree into the cotton fields of the south. She came into the market when the Breeding Association was at the height of its activity and before her mighty son scored his brilliant turf triumphs she was lost to the breeding world forever. Good judges are those same Kentucky breeders sometimes, but they surely reckoned wrong both with Garry Hermann and his dam."

HAS AFFECTION FOR STANLEY FAY.

New York, July 19.—It was suggested to William Walker at Empire City the other day that the proper place to race Stanley Fay, now that he has seemingly lost his good form, is in selling races rather than handicaps.

"Run Stanley Fay in a selling race?" he cried, fairly blazing with indignation. "What do you take me for, man? Don't you know that money could not buy Stanley Fay. I love that horse as an only son. He has been everything to me and I am not going to run the risk of having some halter-brigade butcher grab him after a losing race when I can't protect him, and back him to death."

"You eastern folk do not know what a good horse Stanley Fay has been to me, or what an unfailing source of revenue he has been to the faithful who have followed him at race tracks all over the country."

"Stanley Fay has won $35,000 in purses and I do not know many big bets he has landed for me. When he was his real self, rarely lost a big bet on him. He has earned enough for me to make any man comfortable for a lifetime. Whether Stanley Fay races after this year depends entirely upon what he shows between now and the time for him to go into winter quarters. If he recovers his old speed I will continue to race him while he keeps sound. If he does not he will go into retirement at my place at Toronto."

"I have a stable already built for Stanley Fay, with his name painted on the door. I intended last year to keep Stanley with Earl Rogers and Edwin Gum, two other horses that had been good to me, in comfort and idleness the rest of their days, but Jack Ryan persuaded me to give Edwin Gum and Earl Rogers to the Canadian Breeding Bureau and thereby help to save the day for racing on the other side of the border."

"I gave up Edwin Gum and Earl Rogers on the condition that they be placed in homes that suited me and with the provision that I might call them back whenever I thought they were not getting proper attention. Earl Rogers is now established at a farm about thirty miles from Montreal. Edwin Gum is in Manitoba west of Winnipeg. I have personally seen that their homes are comfortable and that they are getting humane care."

Mr. Walker attributes Stanley Fay's loss of form to the treatment he received at the hands of "night riders" in Canada last year. The colt has never been himself since.

RACING IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Vancouver, B. C., July 19.—The recently held second meeting of the British Columbia Thoroughbred Association was successful in every way. There will be no second meeting at Victoria. There is only one track at that place and in case a meeting should be held now it would be betting at the Provincial fair next fall. So in order to avoid any friction between the Victoria Country Club and the fair association, the proposed second meeting has been declared off. It is probable that a new track will be built this fall for next season's racing.

The racing, both here and at Victoria, was very formal, seventy-five per cent of the favorites winning. As a consequence, the bookmakers all quit losers.
